

DISCLAIMER

APEX Communications will provide a personal and highly professional formatted resume, but does not guarantee an employer's agreement for hiring. Only the information given to APEX Communications Resume Service will be used on the desired resume and will reflect the strong abilities of the client. No interjection of opinion or manipulation of the client's submitted information will be romanticized or false information added by APEX Communications. APEX Communications does not verify the client's information submitted for a professional resume.

The client maintains complete accountability for all information submitted for a professional resume. All information submitted by the client is kept in strict confidence and not shared by another individual or company outside of the client.

No refunds will be given after final draft is provided the client.